

SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

We clipped the following from one of our exchanges and thought it was more apropos than anything we could write on the topic so we repeat it here for your benefit:

WINTER SPORTS, AHoy!

"When old man Winter smites the Sierras, leaving the mountain sides covered with snow, California's great outdoors again comes into its own, calling to winter sports enthusiasts to come and revel in its beauty.

"As children followed the Pied Piper of Hamelin, so do the snow sport devotees, armed with their skis, skates, bobsleds and pike poles, follow the siren call of snow-clad mountains.

"From the towering crest of Mt. Shasta to majestic Mt. Whitney, ski trails will be blazed by winter sports celebrants, Lassen, Truckee and Norden; Soda Springs and Cisco; Calaveras, Pinocrest and Sequoia; the great glacial valley of Yosemite with its all-year highway; the riva of Switzerland, Lake Tahoe; and scores of other famous snow fields will be the destination of recreational seekers.

"Most important, they will go, not to sit in a grandstand and watch others, but to participate themselves in a hearty, healthy recreation. Railroad excursions with special rates are being planned to acquaint more people with the pleasures of skiing, skating and bobsledding. Shining new winter sports equipment in the windows of city shops will add to the lure. And from almost any community in California, winter sports playgrounds will be within easy reach for week-end excursions.

"Already world-famous as a summer playground, California is now bidding for first honors on the far-flung snowfields of King Winter. And And Californians—in increasing thousands—are blazing the trail."

Well, need we elaborate?

Charlie White, of the local Bank of America, this week announced that $3,000 worth of Christmas Club memberships will be distributed next week. We can only hope that this fund will remain in the business channels of Truckee where it belongs.

The Tahoe High School student body played host to a group of the Truckee High School students last Friday and both sides reported a good time. The spirit of neighborliness displayed by these young people could be profitably copied by the other citizens of their respective communities. In an area whose interests are so nearly identical as are those of the Truckee-Tahoe recreational area, cooperation rather than competition should be the prevailing spirit.

Eat and drink moderately, drive carefully and be as thankful tomorrow as you are today. Happy Thanks giving.

CHRISTMAS FUND IS BEING DISTRIBUTED BY BANK AMERICA

Merchants of Truckee will share in a statewide outpouring of Christmas funds which will be released to members of the Bank of America Christmas Club throughout California on December 1st.

According to C. B. White, manager of Bank of America here, approximately $12,000,000 will be distributed to Christmas savers at the 494 branches of the bank in 307 California communities. This is over 26 per cent more than last year.

In Truckee the total distribution will be $3,000.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the money saved in this type of account goes immediately into trade channels. The remainder is re-invested in savings and securities.

Pointing to this year's all-time high mark for what is the largest Christmas Club in the United States, Mr. White remarked: "There is every reason to feel that the coming Christmas will be California's merriest in many a year. Christmas Club savings represent one of the best possible guides to economic conditions."

Plans were discussed to correct a condition in the main sewer in the hope that the flood condition of last spring will not be repeated.

G. E. Hofmann was reelected as secretary of the board. Other members are George Pace and H. I. Snider.

Supervisors Stumped As Two Officers Tied In Placer County Balloting

Oh woe is us! What's to do about it? These are the laments of the Placer County Board of Supervisors as they survey the returns of the county race for Superintendent of Schools.

In the regular balloting Elwyn H. Gregory led incumbent Portia F. Moss by 33 votes. In counting absentee ballots the supervisors found that Mrs. Moss polled 243 to Gregory's 210 giving her 33 more votes than her opponent consequently the count is Moss, 5435; Gregory, 5435.

As the situation is without precedent, the supervisors are up the well-known stump trying to figure it out. Everything from marbles to swords at sunrise have been suggested.

Several other young people of the town, represented at the meeting by Lyle Smith, have agreed to assist in preparing the rink with the provision they be granted certain concession in using the rink and other facilities.

The meeting was presided over by President C. B. White and was attended by 12 directors.

JUDGE TUTTLE MAY WIN HIGH COURT POST THIS WEEK

Within a week an announcement from Governor Frank F. Merriam will be made of an appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice John A. Plummer of the third district court of appeals and it has been reported that Judge Raglan Tuttle of Nevada City is one favored for the post which, under the new state election law, is virtually a lifetime position. The salary is $11,000.

Since the death of Judge Plummer practically every superior court judge in Northern California has had friends and supporters urging the governor's consideration. Many outstanding lawyers have also been mentioned for the post.

Merriam, although he has personally made no comment on the situation, was quoted in the state capital by close advisers as favoring the Nevada County judge.

Tuttle was first appointed to the Nevada County superior bench by Gov. Friend W. Richardson 12 years ago and has held the office since that time, his election in November insuring him of another six year term.

The most prominent candidates for the post beside Tuttle are Jess Hession, of the department of finance and Judge Martin Welsh of the Sacramento superior court.

BOOERS AND BOOMERS

Take a look at your neighbors and the people next door! How many are boo-ers? How many are boom-ers?

There's not much difference between those two words—just an "m"! On a printer's rule, an em doesn't amount to much. But when it comes to building a better community, that "m" can amount to a lot!

Take the boomer! Is a community project proposed? Is a civic betterment at stake? For both, the boomers have the identical answer—a loud, lusty "boo"!

Take the boomers! When there's a job of civic building, to do—they jump in and lend a hand!

All of us have some investment in this community. Some of us have invested time, some money, and some labor. But for all of us the future of this community is of prime importance—as citizens, and as investors.

That investment can be protected and that citizenship exercised, but it takes a boomer to do it, a man or woman convinced of the future of this community, and willing to dig in to make that future brighter.

Take a look at your neighbors and the people next door. But first of all, take a look at yourself. Boomer or boomer—which is it?

The future of this community may depend on your answer!

WHY LET THEM LIVE?

In a tiny crib, his hands grasping eagerly at his blanket, lies a young baby! Should he have been born?

Writing last week in a San Francisco newspaper, Mrs. W. Ferguson, a columnist, posed that question. Why, she asked, bring children into the world? Why let them be born, to kill or be killed in a world dominated by war and economic insecurity? Why let them grow up, to become battlefield heroes or battlefield corpses?

The mothers of today are not the first to ask that question. Since the dawn of time, women have faced the wisdom of sharing themselves with the future. Meeting the worry and pain of birth, they have questioned whether the world they have to offer is worth the price of admission.

The primitive mother, huddled with her children in some shadowy cave, must often have asked: Why let them live? Yet something deep within her clutched at the straw of life for herself and for her children.

The pioneer mother, sheltering her children from the bitter winds of the plains, must often have asked: Why let them be born? Yet beyond the wintry plains she saw the golden dream of a western home—the clear sky, green grass and fresh fields of the future.

So with the modern mother! Fearful of war and personal disaster, she too must ask: Why let them be born? Why let them live?

For her, as for the others, there can be only one answer. Man, since he first found fire, has progressed upward. Today his future may look dark. Tomorrow, as in the tomorrows of yesterday, he will move on toward the goals his achievements already make possible.

Why let them live? Why let them die, when man can make tomorrow a better today! Why let them die, when that siliest baby may hold in his tiny grasping fingers the keys to man's greater future!

PEACE OR POGROM

Smashed senseless by the blows of organized mobs, men and women, whose only fault was their race, today lie dying in the streets of German cities. Their homes and stores are empty. The walls of their churches topple inward on the ruins of their altars. Denied employment and even food—the living are carted away to concentration camps while the more fortunate dead find a last resting place in the soil of the land they called home.

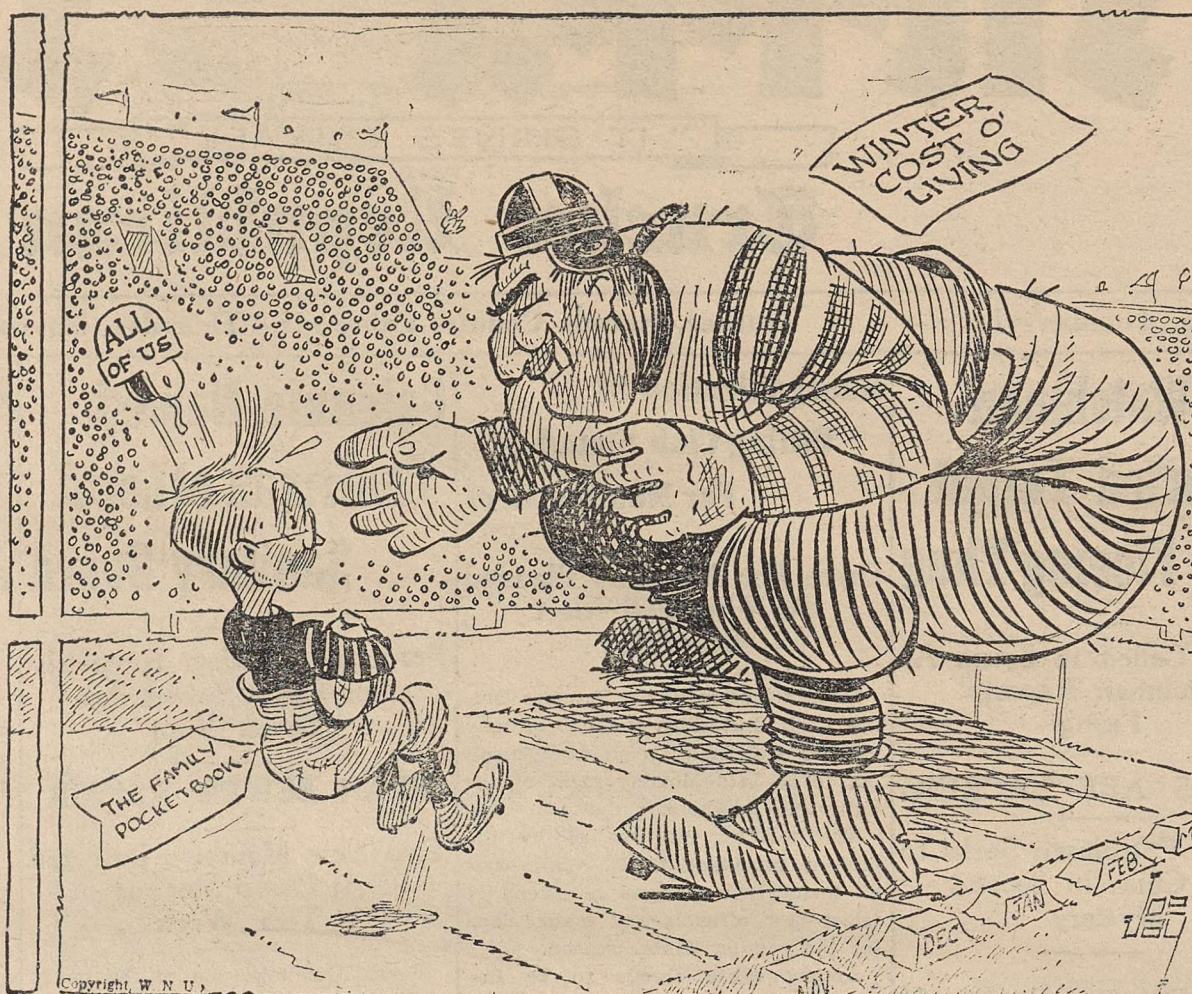

Not since the days of the Caesars has the world seen a picture of sadistic fury. Not since the pogroms of the Middle Ages has the world seen a nation, a leader and a government caught in such a frenzy of destruction.

Yet it is that leader, that government, and that nation on whom the British prime minister depends for a "reasonable" peace. While London press shouts "barbarians, savages, sadists", Mr. Chamberlain goes on his way attempting to make peace glorious and everlasting.

The pogroms that have crushed the last remnant of the Jews in Germany may well have crushed the last hope of world peace based on mutual understanding. There can be no covenant when those who take the oath of peace are without honor. In such a world, the only peace is the peace of force.

Pogroms, not peace, rule the world. With force triumphant over facts, with might ascendant over mind, with wrong over ruling right—peaceful nations have no choice but to defend their people and their shores.

Here's Where We Get Thrown for a Loss!

WALTMAN SEES REJECTION OF NEW DEAL METHODS

by Franklyn Waltman
Publicity Director, GOP Nat'l Com.

The opinions expressed in this article are those of Mr. Waltman and may or may not be those of this paper. An answer to these remarks is invited by the editors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24 — Results of last week's election have altered completely the American political picture. The New Deal is no longer the dominant power in our lives. The Republican Party, electing Senators and Governors in 20 states, has been restored as a numerically strong and effective opposition that must be respected. Thus once more the two-party system in this country has been firmly entrenched. Threats of a third party movement have evaporated like the morning dew under the rising sun. Third term prospects again become only of academic interest.

More important, the country has put its foot down, with crunching sounds, on radicalism, the shameless effort to control elections with relief funds, governmental corruption, the flagrant flouting of constitutional forms and experimental paternalism in the field of economic action. All of that has been condemned and that is the real significance of the elections. Those who have feared that America might go the way of Russia, Germany and Italy may now feel reassured.

The long range significance of what happened is much clearer than the immediate outlook. Whether the next two years will be a period of political calm and tranquility depends primarily on President Roosevelt. If he reads correctly the lesson of the elections and acts accordingly, he will be saved many hours of grief.

On the other hand, if Mr. Roosevelt mistakes the meaning of the 1938, as he did in the election two years ago, he is destined to meet firm and unrelenting opposition, bitter political warfare and, perhaps, crushing humiliation. For it is certain that what General Hugh S. Johnson calls the "Third New Deal" is now dead and past all hope of resurrection.

Mr. Roosevelt must make the choice. It is a particularly difficult decision for him to make. By nature he is a fighting man—much more the leader of the cavalry charge than the philosopher, despite his many efforts in the latter field. The situation confronting Mr. Roosevelt calls, not for the flash of the saber or the roll of drums, but quiet, meditative reflection. Thus it goes against his nature.

Secondly, Mr. Roosevelt is convinced of his own good intentions. Perhaps it would be unfair to say that he has a Messianic complex. But it is obvious that he does not believe he ever has been wrong in any major particular. So far, at least, he has not admitted error. Even in the matter of election forecasting, his post-election announcements must be approximately accurate, though adverse to him. It would have been encouraging, and very human, if Mr. Roosevelt had guessed wrong the outcome of at least this election.

Thirdly, Mr. Roosevelt's closest friends and advisers are the very ones who have led him astray. He cannot reverse what he has been doing—the things which the voters condemned at the polls—without repudiating them. They, too, have become mesmerized with the belief of their infallibility. Their self-confidence and their righteousness overwhelm them. Thus they have immunized themselves against public reaction.

Harry Hopkins is a typical illustration. Long, long ago Mr. Hopkins decided his judgment was superior to all others in the matter of administering relief. Criticisms of his work were met by contemptuous assertions that the critics were "too dumb to understand." He dismissed the Bacon and Vandenberg substitute bill for relief administration, before reading it, with the assertion that it originated with Republicans and therefore could not have any value.

Traveling Around America

WHERE OXEN STILL REIGN

NEW models of harvesters may come and go but in Venezuela's fields of sugar cane oxen still carry on. It is their duty to transport the cane to the trains which carry it to the mills. The cane which grows to a height of from seven to twelve feet has a thick, jointed stalk with purple and yellow markings topped with a cluster of long green blades and from a distance resembles corn. Natives with crude machetes cut the stalks at the base, hack away the green leaves, cut the cane into convenient lengths, and load it in ox-carts which start it on the way to the mill.

The mills—which are one of the interesting sights enjoyed by travelers visiting Venezuela on the 16-day Caribbean cruises from New York—have manifold duties to perform. In them the cane is ground, macerated, boiled and limed, crystallized—with tests made all along the way—and finally weighed and bagged for shipment to the factories of the world. In 1931 in the United States the bakeries, confectioners, beverage manufacturers, ice cream plants, canning factories, condensed milk plants, chewing gum factories, manufacturers of chocolate and cocoa products, and of flavoring extracts and syrups used a total of 2,650,233,307 pounds of sugar.

On Friday the elementary grades gathered in the assembly hall to present their playlet "Monterey" culminating weeks of study of early California history. Pictures drawn in the color of the old missions, the padres, etc., were shown by the magic lantern slide.

The children from the first to the fourth grades under the direction of Miss Alta Byer, their teacher, entertained the older group with a presentation of Old King Cole and other nursery tales.

Mrs. Marie Henry, who lived 14 months in Mexico City with her family, gave the grammar grades a talk on Wednesday covering the customs and traditions of the natives of old Mexico, contrasting their mode of life with that of the present day in the United States.

Sunny weather has prevailed at Tahoe over the past several days with considerable snow remaining on the ground in shady places and outlying districts. A change of weather was not anticipated as the barometer on Monday dropped a few points. The feathered songsters of summer have all but disappeared as the little gray chickadees begin arriving daily for rations of bacon rind and bread crumbs on the kitchen windowsills.

The lake level on Tuesday stood at 6227.32 with 291 CSF feet of water leaving the Tahoe gates.

Business Meet Of Ski Club Is Huge Success

TAHOE CITY, Nov. 24.— An enthusiastic group of Lake Tahoe Ski Club members met on Friday night last at the community hall at which time Carl Bechdolt, Jr., believed the youngest ski club president in the state was returned to the presidents chair with a total of 22 votes to the 12 for A. M. "Red" Anderson. Floyd Carnell won the Treasurership by the flip of a coin over Robert Pomin, who tied him in the final count. Henry Worden was unopposed for the office of Vice President as was Mrs. Marie Henry for secretary. Sig Ulland and was appointed Chief of the Hill and Joe Henry was made Tournament Director. The five directors are Joe Duffee, Douglas Smith, Robert Pomin, A. M. Anderson and Harry Johanson.

Sig Ulland, ace skier of the local club and present National Champion, declared that he will remain to perform under the banner of the Lake Tahoe Ski Club again this winter, despite the fact that he was offered several lucrative jobs as a professional in the east.

A letter from Supervisor Jack McFadden, of this district, informed the club that the sum of $100 would be forthcoming in the near future, the money already available from the county treasury. Mrs. Henry reported that $20 was collected on Friday night for memberships.

Considerable disappointment was felt because of Tahoe's non representation at the recent important convention of the California Ski Association at which time dates for sanctioned meets are allotted accredited clubs in the state. Tahoe must now select a date for their tournament from the few available remaining open, or one that coincides with a southern California meet which wouldn't be considered conflicting here.

The proposal of moving Tahoe's winter sports playground closer to town is receiving wholehearted approval on all sides. At the meeting President Bechdolt appointed several committees to investigate the possibility of finding ways and means by which the tract of 68 acres just above the Tavern golf links, now a part of the Watson estate, could be purchased outright by the club for the establishment of a new ski jump with a toboggan slide, down hill and slalom course and some sort of a ski tow. Matt Green has granted permission, in behalf of the Tavern company, for use of the links by the public, provided the property is not damaged. Members are willing to admit that while linger record jumps can be made from Tahoe's famous Olympic Hill in Ski Canyon, access is difficult and painful to many who are unseasoned winter sportsters. The tract being considered for a possible new site is about 1/2 mile long and 1/4 mile wide and could readily be adequately developed into more conveniently located grounds. A report will be made by the committee on the project at the next meeting on Friday, Nov. 25, at 7 p.m. Meetings from now on will be held every Friday night at the same time in Community Hall.

A resolution offering a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bechdolt, Sr., and family was adopted. On Tuesday last Bechdolt appeared before the Community Center Club meeting with an unusual offer. He offered, in behalf of himself and his family, to President Henry Droste and the Center's trustees, an outright gift of the beautiful Wurlitzer panatrope, installed in the hall for the recent Hallowe'en dance, and valued at more than $500, in exchange for five years free rental of the hall for

Meteor Causes Confusion In Hitting Lake Tahoe

TAHOE CITY, Nov. 24.— The huge meteor which streaked across the sky on Wednesday night of last week at 9:34 created quite a stir at Tahoe. From Tahoe Inn shortly before 10 p.m. came the report that four men motoring from the north end of the lake had seen what appeared to be a large plane, aflame a mile out in the water and half a mile north of town. All seemed to disappear and no explosion was heard, so they were loath to call Capt. Jack Hale, Federal Marine Inspector at Tahoe, until some definite information of the supposed tragedy were available. Several messengers were sent to the scene off shore and found nothing, but not until morning was an explanation found for the unusual tale, the reflection of the falling meteor undoubtedly misleading the agitated motorists.

Olson Appoints Southern Corporation Executive to Succeed Earl Lee Kelly

Governor-elect Culbert Levy Olson announced last week the appointment of Frank W. Clark, Los Angeles, as his choice for state director of public works to succeed Earl Lee Kelly, resigned. The post carries a salary of $10,000 a year.

Clark, 46, has lived in California for 34 years. As an executive of the Consolidated Rocks Products Corp. and the Ruth Dredger Manufacturing Co. he is familiar with road building problems and is particularly recognized as a national authority on irrigation and drainage.

The Tahoe Ski Club. The offer was accepted. It was made clear, however that while other groups might enjoy use of the music, the instrument is to remain the property of the Tahoe Community Center.

George Schlumpf brought in a new member from Sacramento, Victor David, and sought permission to induct a number of other residents of the capital city who are eager to join the local club. His suggestions received the approval of the group.

Douglas Smith was appointed chairman of the solicitation fund and Mrs. Ruth Mayfield was made chairman of the arrangements committee for the club's first dance of the season to be held next Saturday, Nov. 26, at 8:30 p.m. in the local community hall. Decorations will be in the winter sports motif. Home made pies and coffee will be served later in the evening. The public is cordially invited to attend the informal affair.

PINE RUST AT NORTH SAN JUAN COMBATED BY FORESTRY SERVICE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.— (UP)— Federal and state forestry officials, continuing their fight against the blister rust in pine forest areas, have assigned a scouting force to North San Juan and vicinity. The party was transferred from the Plumas National Forest.

W. B. Dunshee, head of the party, said blister rust attacks three varieties of five needle, white and sugar pines. It was brought to the Pacific coast in 1910 when a shipment of white pine from Europe was landed at Vancouver.

Dunshee said in two years the disease has traveled 150 miles from the Indian Creek district in Klamath National Park to the Plumas forest. Gooseberry and currant bushes are believed to be the chief carriers.

San Francisco Man Is Candidate For President To Break New York Rule

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.— (UP)— Orville E. Jones, 52, field deputy in the San Francisco office of the Federal Internal Revenue Department, Monday announced his candidacy for President of the United States in 1940.

Jones said he would seek the Democratic nomination on a platform of destruction of the dictatorship of the of the New York financial and industrial octopus.

A former Chicago newspaperman, Jones, in a notarized statement to the press characterized his candidacy as "a people's movement."

CALPINE LUMBER CO. CLOSES MILL IN NEAR BY LUMBER DISTRICT

What was probably the last log to go through the sawmill of the Calpine Lumber Company was sawed at 2:00 a.m. on Wednesday, November 16, 1938, according to J. H. Blackburn, manager for the Company at Calpine.

And as the familiar sound of the snarling saw eating its way through the giant timber died on the early morning echoes, a major industry of Sierra County came to an end, after more than twenty years of continuous operation.

Future plans of the Company have not been made public, but according to Manager Blackburn the sawmill plant will be immediately overhauled with a view to a possible move to some new location.

The Calpine Lumber Co. has been one of the County's heaviest taxpayers during its long and successful period of operation in the Sierra Valley, and the withdrawal of the operation from the County, should such a move transpire, will mean the loss of a considerable sum of tax revenue.—Downieville Mountain Messenger.

Former Tahoe Hatchery Worker Buried In North

TAHOE CITY, Nov. 24.— Funeral services were held on Monday for George West, well known in this region where he was foreman at the Tahoe Fish Hatchery, north of town for many years prior to his transfer to the Ukiah hatchery some six years ago.

The West family underwent a very harrowing experience last spring when the hatchery buildings and the family's personal belongings were swept away by floods.

Although it was known here that West had been in poor health, his passing was a shock to his host of local friends.

Huge Generators Are In Service At Boulder Dam; For Los Angeles Service

Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes has advised the City of Los Angeles that the sixth of the large generators at Boulder Dam was installed and ready for operation.

This is the second generator of 82,500 kilovolt-ampere capacity to be placed in service this year, since N-5 began operation in July and was placed in steady service November 4th.

The first of the great generators in the Boulder plant began steady operations on October 22, 1936; the second December 1, 1936; the third on December 28, 1936 and the fourth February 12, 1937.

In addition to the six great generators, a seventh generator of 40,000 k.v.a. capacity, which is as large as any other in the world outside those at the Boulder plant, has been installed and is in operation.

Between the time the first power was produced and the first of October this year, the output of power from the Boulder plant had been sold for a total of $3,493,380. To that time an additional $1,087,562 had been returned to the Federal Treasury as payment by the power purchasers on the power plant and machinery.

Two more of the great generators are now being manufactured and should be ready for operation next year.

POLITICAL PARADE

by Clara Whitaker

Culbert L. Olson, Governor-elect of California, is determined on sweeping reforms in State government—more far-reaching than the reforms inaugurated by Hiram W. Johnson in the historic shake-up of 1911!

It will be a New Deal program, streamlined and modernized by Olsonian innovations.

And if legislative statutes prove inadequate—or if the Republican State Senate balks enactment of reforms which the new Governor considers essential—Mr. Olson plans to call a special State election early in 1939 to submit a series of constitutional amendments, embodying his program, to the voters of California.

There will be (in fact there already is) a "brain trust", too, composed, in part, of sociologists, economists, ecologists, from Stanford and the University of California and of crusading intellectuals and "labor liberals" who helped Mr. Olson to climb to power.

According to his intimates, here are some of the immediate reforms which the Governor-elect plans to initiate soon after he takes his oath of office.

Labor legislation—a modified "Little Wagner Act", probably similar to the Yorty Act which was defeated at the 1937 legislative session. Also machinery for employer-employee mediation, designed to avert strikes and lockouts.

Small loan legislation cracking down on "loan sharks".

Pardon of Tom Mooney; repeal of the criminal syndicalism act.

Revenue setup, with probability of higher taxes on big incomes and corporations, and reduction of State sales tax.

Inauguration of a modern State auditing system to determine where the State's money goes—and why!

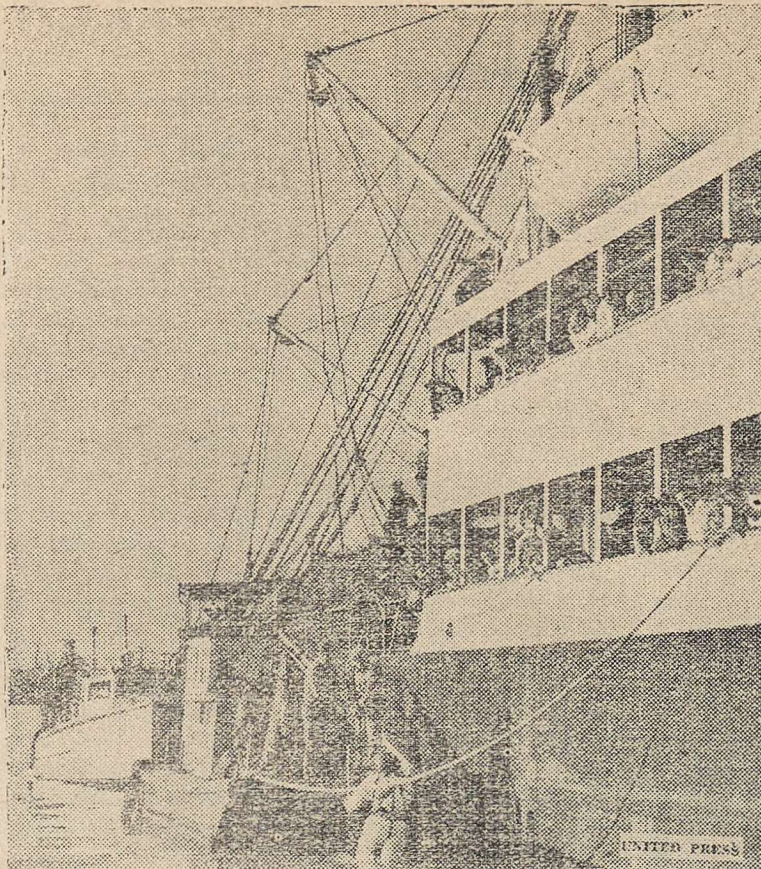

A modified production-for-use program, still in the embryo stage, but receiving much attention from the Olson "brain trust".

A study of the old age pension problem, climaxing in State action, or in recommendations to the federal government for a national pension system.

Reforms in the criminal code and civil procedure. (Many of the Olson leaders are opposed to capital punishment, but Governor-elect Olson's views on the subject have not been indicated.)

A shake-up of virtually all State departments, with Olson leaders replacing Republicans in all key positions.

Sabotage Charged in Explosion

Baron Manfred von Killinger, German consul-general at San Francisco, said his investigation "indubitably established" that an explosion which tore a hole in the Nazi steamer Vancouver in the Oakland Estuary "came from the outside of the ship," which is shown above. He said he suspected Communists. Local and Federal authorities also investigated the explosion, which, had it occurred in deep water, would have sunk the ship, which grounded after the blast.

Detroit vs. Broncos

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24—(UP)—The Sacramento Elks Lodge, sponsors of the football game here Nov. 27, between Santa Clara and Detroit Universities, has invited northern California fans to the pre-game rally Nov. 26 in the Elks' temple. Second and third floors will be open for dancing. The gathering will feature the appearance of Buck Shaw, Santa Clara coach and Gus Dorais, pilot of the Detroit team. There is no admission charge.

From the standpoint of Sacramento Valley and the bay region sports writers, Sacramento and San Jose Elks drew a "natural" when they scheduled the University of Santa Clara Broncos and the University of Detroit Titans to play in the capital city stadium next Sunday afternoon, November 27th.

A summary of the two teams shows that Detroit will climax a tough 1938 schedule when they meet Santa Clara in Sacramento. Their defeats this season have resulted in close scores, while their victories have been made by overwhelming touchdown marches, such as 39 to 14 against Tulsa last week, a 38 to 7 victory over North Dakota University two weeks past and a 27 to 0 earlier in the season.

Detroit started slow but began to chalk up victories toward the end of the season. It was rated at the first of the season by football experts as a team that should be able to sail through the toughest schedule Detroit ever tackled with much better than a 50-50 average. Detroit has exceeded this prediction and is said to be an even match for the Broncos.

Football fans of California need no introduction to the Broncos past record. Two years and 16 games and not a defeat placed the Santa Clara players under a terrific strain. The story of meeting their Waterloo at the hands of St. Mary's glimmers two weeks ago was a decided shock to many football fans, but it did prove that the mighty Broncos can be beaten.

It is predicted that Santa Clara will be at their peak against Detroit because the worry of spoiling an undefeated record is no longer constantly on the minds of Buck Shaw's Broncos. The Santa Clara players are out to begin another winning streak. They realize that Detroit is a hard fighting team and those who attend the game can expect to see the Santa Clarans in fighting form.

Peace.

In a sworn affidavit, Ripley gave his campaign costs as 28 cents—25 cents for the affidavit and 3 cents to mail it in.

Good camera-copy is Culbert L. Olson, California's newly elected Governor. He looks like Governors ought to look, but seldom do. Yet he's been out-pointed in recent weeks. Most photographed of all California's new political celebrities is Sheridan Downey, whose radiant countenance has hit cover pages throughout the nation. You may not like the "ham and egg" program, but you can't help liking Sheridan Downey—if you know him. And magazines want human, likeable, photographable characters. Downey has "it"!

Tom Mooney, in prison, has been a "cause"—a world-wide symbol. Millions have been poured into his defense fund. Millions of men and women have used his name as a rallying cry in tempestuous struggles. But Mooney, out of jail, will soon be a friendless, isolated, dispirited old man, according to our informants. A tremendous egoist, he also has a bad habit of being supremely suspicious—even of those who have tried to help him. And when Governor-elect Olson signs the pardon papers, Tom Mooney, our spy advises, will be on the way down. He will have ceased to be a symbol and will have become just a self-centered impossible old man. It will be the end of illusion!

Earl Lee Kelly, we learn on good authority, had a job all set, a few months ago, with the Fleishhaker (Anglo California National) Bank. But with Herbert Fleishhaker's sudden retirement, due to suits filed against him, the job has gone glimmering. And Mr. Kelly, when the new administration comes into power, may go back to abstract and title business in Redding.

have jolted and his advisors remains to be seen. So far there is little evidence to that effect, aside from the general confusion in New Deal ranks. Non expects Mr. Roosevelt publicly to mount the repentance bench. There are other ways, however, to make evident a change of heart. Yet signs are not encouraging to those who desire that change. Instead there was a slight tone of belligerency in the first press conference after the elections—a note of "I am all right if you do not misrepresent me."

Harry Hopkins has had the good taste to keep his silence. But not the blatant Harold Ickes. He had to rush into print, loudly proclaiming that Mr. Roosevelt's policies had been indorsed and that now we must become reconciled to Mr. Roosevelt for another term. This is the same Mr. Roosevelt whose friend and lieutenant Frank Murphy was overwhelmingly beaten by the electorate in Michigan, whose personally indorsed admirer, Elmer Benson, was driven from public life in Minnesota, whose protégé George H. Earle was ignominiously defeated in Pennsylvania, whose home state of New York was saved, after a personal plea by him, from going Republican only by a hair-line margin.

It is no wonder that Henry Wallace—who at least a little more sensitive about what is going on around him than other New Dealers—gagged over the Ickes' words and broke precedent by publicly rebuking his fellow cabinet officer. Mr. Wallace's avowed spirit of humility and soul-searching might well be emulated by the other New Dealers—but it is doubtful that it will be for Henry Wallace's influence at the White House in recent months has not been great. Harry Hopkins has seen to that.

As for the Republicans, they choose to regard their victory as an opportunity rather than a personal or party triumph. Having convinced the American people of the deficiencies of the New Deal, they now will turn toward the projection of alternative and constructive programs. Their recent campaign and its satisfactory conclusion evidence that they are in only to greater triumphs in 1940 but also to a revitalizing of "the American way."

Politically Speaking

by John W. Dunlap
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24—(UP)—Governor-elect Culbert Levy Olson is going to have plenty of headaches in taking over the state administration but his pension worries will top the pile.

If ever a state was pension conscious, it is California after the "ham and eggs" barrage that came so close to going over the top in the general election. Those million votes are spurring the $30-Every-Thursdays promoters into renewed activity and Olson will inherit the full pressure when he moves into the capitol's corner office in January.

Ten pension heads have already announced they are going to expand into 18 other states and make their "ham and eggs" into a national movement. They want to have a special election called in California to give voters another chance to consider the measure, which probably will be revamped and perhaps modified.

There is where they hope to put Olson on the spot.

Under Proposition 17, which carried at the election, there is a provision that the governor may call a special election sooner than the legal limit, if petitions are filed with the secretary of state as required by law. They hope Olson can be persuaded to do just that.

During the campaign the snow-haired Los Angeles senator courted the ham and eggs vote, although officially declining a definite commitment. In view of Gov. Frank F. Merriam's daily blasts against the pension, it goes without saying that a goodly share of the $30 balloting also went the Democratic ticket. This will be used as an argument when the pensioners start besieging the state house for support.

From the very outset, it was apparent that the pension plan was a veritable gold mine. California's elderly citizens gladly contributed their nickels and dimes, bought literature and souvenirs. More important, they constituted an army of volunteer campaign workers, pushing doorbells and making house to house canvasses of every precinct in the state.

The pension promoters reported to

It is understood that the books and records of the California Pension Plan in Hollywood, headquarters for the $30-Every-Thursdays organization are in perfect order and supervised by reputable accounting agencies. Report form inside the organization are to the effect that heads of the concern draw modest salaries, have control of commissions for placing of advertising, radio and other expenses. Little discouraged, friends of the movement started out the morning after election to round up more votes and try to counteract the intense criticism from big business, government agencies, school teachers, banks and President Roosevelt.

It would hardly be human nature for those connected with the plan in an executive capacity to drop their efforts now. The favorable vote was a mighty protest against present insecurity of old age, despite the fact that California has one of the highest pension rates in the country. The fact remains that something must be done to aid those over 50 and 60 and 70, particularly among the unemployed.

It is an interesting sidelight that the United States has one of the highest ratios of persons over 50 and under 21 in its history. The high birthrate of the World War era is pushing an increasing number of youngsters into the employable age each year. The same war cut down the middle-aged segment of the population, leaving a reduced number of wage earners to carry the load of old age assistance and providing employment for the young.

The federal social security legislation is doing a share of the job in coping with the problem, but the small dividends and extended effective date has resulted in a clamor for immediate pensions. The pension experiment in Colorado has bogged down, a similar scheme in Alberta nearly bankrupted the province. Many fear the same fate is in store for California, if a "ham and eggs" or related plan is voted into effect.

And that's the reason why Olson can well worry on what course to chart through the troubled seas of pensions.
